

THE ROLL CALL

THE sound of martial music
And reverential tread,
The armies of the living
Go forth to greet the dead.
Around the graves they gather,
A hush on every soul
That listens in the silence,
While Memory calls the roll.

From battle-stained Antietam,
From Gettysburg and Shiloh,
From mountain, plain and bridge,
They come who died as heroes,
They come from far or near,
And as the roll is counted
Each man makes answer: "Here!"

Not one is of the missing,
The ranks are full to-day,
In solid marching order,
They stand, a close array,
Their faces lit with courage
As in that long ago,
When for the love of country
They fell before the foe.

On every grave a garland
Of sweet May blossoms is laid,
Till of the dead's own sere
A garden bed is made;
And ever with the living
By glade or sunny knoll,
The noble dead are marching
As Memory calls the roll.

They cannot be forgotten,
To whom their comrades pay
The tribute of affection
On Decoration day,
Still dear to those who love them
Each loyal, faithful soul
Will hear their answer: "Present!"
When Memory calls the roll.

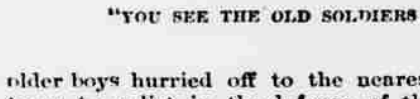

Helen Chauncey, in N. Y. Independent.

A KINDNESS THAT CAME BACK

IN THE little hamlet of Brighton, up in the eke regions of Pennsylvania, in the spring of 1901, there lived a poor family by the name of Redmond. A few months previous the father had been injured by a mine explosion, thus throwing the burden of supporting the family on four sons, all under twenty years of age.

After the fall of Sumner the three

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

The Buckeye State Contributes the Story of a Veteran's Search.

How Fred Taylor, a Member of the Gallant 189th N. Y. V. I., Finally Found What He Had Sought Since the War Closed.

(From the Ashabuda, Ohio, Beacon.)

Mr. Fred Taylor was born and brought up, near Elmira, N. Y., and from there enlisted in the 189th regiment, N. Y. V. I., with which he went through the war and saw much hard service. Owing to exposure and hardships in the service, Mr. Taylor contracted chronic diarrhoea from which he has suffered now over 31 years, with absolutely no help from physicians. By nature he was a wonderfully vigorous man, but he has been a sufferer from the effects of the doctors' hands for his long ago. Lamenting was the only thing which afforded him relief. He had terrible headaches, his nerves were shattered, he could not sleep an hour a day on an average, and he was reduced to a skeleton. A year ago he and his wife sought relief in a change of climate and moved to Geneva, O., but the change in health came not. Finally on the recommendation of F. J. Hoffman, the leading druggist of Geneva, who was cognizant of similar cases which Pink Pills had cured, Mr. Taylor was persuaded to try a box. "As a drowning man grasps at a straw so I took the pills," says Mr. Taylor, "but with no more hope of rescue. But after thirty years of suffering and fruitless search for relief I last found it in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The day after I took the first pill I commenced to feel better and when I had taken a box I was a new man. That was two months ago. Mr. Taylor has since taken more of the pills and his progress is steady and he has the utmost confidence in them. He has regained full control of his nerves and sleeps as well as in his youth. Color is coming back to his parched veins and he is gaining flesh and strength rapidly. He is now able to do considerable outdoor work.

As he concluded narrating his sufferings, experience and cure to a Beacon reporter, Mrs. Taylor, who has been his faithful helper these many years, said she wished to add her testimony in favor of Pink Pills. "To the pills alone is due the credit of raising Mr. Taylor from a helpless invalid to the man he is today," said Mrs. Taylor. "Mr. and Mrs. Taylor cannot find words to express the gratitude they feel or recommend too highly Pink Pills to suffering humanity. Any inquiries addressed to them at Geneva, O., regarding Mr. Taylor's case they will cheerfully answer, as they are anxious that the whole world shall know what Pink Pills have done for them and that suffering humanity may be benefited by them. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

OF GENERAL INTEREST.

DAVID SHIMO, a Newark (N. J.) lawyer, has been convicted of stealing ten cents from the coat of a constable.

WINE-TASTERS eat a small piece of bread, with a scrap of cheese, between samples, to insure an unprejudiced taste.

It is estimated that 299 hairs on the head, 39 on the chin, 23 on the forearm and 19 on the back of the hand are respectively contained in an area of a quarter of an inch.

New York is yet to have the restaurant that furnishes no price list to customers. There are a few such in the world, manifestly intended for persons that can be indifferent to the cost of a dinner.

OPTIM-EATERS find little trouble in obtaining the drug in the prison of Charlestown, Mass. It is said that fully twenty per cent. of the prisoners use it. How they get it, is a mystery to the prison officials.

A WOODCHUCK well is on the farm of Prof. St. John, near Belvue, Kan. For two weeks it supplies fresh water, and for the next two weeks salt water, and so continues, alternating between fresh and salt water every fortnight.

At a colored church in New Providence, Ga., there was an unusual proceeding on a recent Sabbath. Somebody, it was asserted, had picked the pocket of the preacher's wife, and the congregation had to submit to a close search. The lady's purse was undiscovered.

When Travelling. Whether on pleasure bent, or business, take on every trip a bottle of Bystrop, as it acts most pleasantly and effectively on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cents and $1 bottles by all leading druggists.

"Oh, mamma," said the small boy from the city when he first saw a robin, "come look at this little sparrow with a red lined shirt on."—Harper's Young People.

Epworth League, Chattanooga. The route to Chattanooga over the Louisville & Nashville Railroad is via Mammoth Cave, America's Greatest Natural Wonder. Specially low rates made for hotel and Cave fees to holders of Epworth League tickets. Through Nashville, the location of Vanderbilt University, the pride of the Methodist Church, and along the line between Nashville and Chattanooga where many of the most famous battles of the war were fought. Send for map of the route from Chattanooga, Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis, and particulars as to rates, etc., C. F. Atkins, General Passenger Agent, Louisville, Ky., or GEO. B. HOSNER, D. P. A., St. Louis, Mo.

"You say her marriage was a failure?" "Well, I don't know what else to call it. Not half the people who were invited came."—Detroit Tribune.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success. The successes achieved by men and things are not always based upon merit. But a success well merited and unprecedented in the annals of proprietary medicines, should therefore come to be written, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a botanic medicine, discovered nearly half a century ago, and the leading remedy for and preventive of malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaints, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness.

A REVELATION.—Louis: "I was surprised to hear Cholly say he is twenty-five." "Why, he looks like it," Louisa: "Yes; but I didn't think he knew it."—Puck.

Piso's Cure is the medicine to break up children's Coughs and Colds.—Mrs. M. U. Blunt, Syracuse, Wash., March 8, '94.

The good are heaven's peculiar care.—Ovid.

For Sprains and Bruises and all Painful Accidents, . . . St. Jacobs Oil in ALL KINDS OF SPORTS . . . Is the professional's first choice of a remedy always.

Work flies right along when you take Pearline to it. So does the dirt. Every scrubbing brush seems to have wings. You get through your cleaning in half the time you used to, and without any commotion or fuss.

Pearline saves rubbing. That means a good deal besides easy work, even in house-cleaning. Paint and wood-work and oil-cloth, etc., are worn out by rubbing.

Pearline cleans, with the least labor, and without the least harm, anything in the world that water doesn't hurt. Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, or "the same as" anything. If your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, it's a home—send it back.

Send it Back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

Desnoyers Shoe Co., FINE SHOES. MADE IN ST. LOUIS. Every Pair Warranted.

CONSUMPTION can, without doubt, be cured in its early stages. It is a battle from the start, but with the right kind of weapons properly used it can be overcome and the insidious foe vanquished. Hope, courage, proper exercise, will-power, and the regular and continuous use of the best nourishing food-medicine in existence—

Scott's Emulsion—the wasting can be arrested, the lungs healed, the cough cured, bodily energies renewed and the physical powers made to assert themselves and kill the germs that are beginning to find lodgment in the lungs. This renowned preparation, that has no doubt cured hundreds of thousands of incipient cases of Consumption, is simply Cod-liver Oil emulsified and made palatable and easy of assimilation, combined with the Hypophosphites, the great bone, brain and nerve tonic. Scott & Bowne, New York. All Druggists. 50c. and $1.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

WILLIE WASN'T IN IT.

"Willie! have you been in another fight?"

"No, mamma. This fellow outclassed me, and I wasn't in it."—Brooklyn Life.

It Must Have Been Washday. "There's no place like home," droned the organ.

Tears sprang to the eyes of the man with the dusty hat.

"That's no place like home."

"I hope not," sighed the man, for his thoughts were with the bare, wet floors and a dinner of cold potato on the top of the sewing machine.—Washington Star.

A Look Ahead. There before Crusoe's eyes was the print of a human foot.

"Suffering Christopher!" he exclaimed. "Neighbors!"

His head clouded with anxiety.

"I wonder," he mused.

Hastening to his home he changed the combination of the lock on the cabin.—Puck.

A Paying Talent. Mrs. Literati—My little son has the most remarkable powers of imagination I ever knew in one so young. He will surely be a writer, and a successful one.

Western Guest—Successful? He kin first roll in wealth. Quick as he's old husband—Pretty bad, my dear, prettied.

"Why don't you try the mind cure?"

"There ain't anything the matter with my mind; it's my joints."—Texas Siftings.

Wasn't She Cute? Miss Passe—How much did you pay for that hat?

Miss Freshly—As many dollars as you are old in years.

Miss Passe—Is it possible that you will wear such cheap things?—Syracuse Post.

He Knew His Business. Proprietor—Why did you treat that woman so poorly?

Clerk—You noticed I sold her an article that didn't really suit her?

"Yes."

"She bought it because I treated her as if she couldn't afford it."—Pearson's.

After the Ceremony. Bride (discussing the event)—It seemed to me that there was a slight hitch while we were taking our positions at the altar.

Groom—Possibly. But it was nothing compared with the hitch that followed.—Brooklyn Life.

No Help for It. Miss Summit (lunching with Castleton)—I suppose you feel as if I could eat a thing, Mr. Castleton.

Castleton (resignedly to waiter)—Bring in the whole bill of fare.—N. Y. Herald.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the possibility of a surprise for the public. The fact that Justice Jackson was in the city, and that he had participated in the consultation yesterday did not become known until a few minutes before the court came in. He occupied his seat with the other members of the court, making a full bench at the delivery of the opinion, as there was at the hearing. The chief justice immediately began the delivery of the main opinion in the case.

THE INCOME TAX LAW.

Declared Unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, Its Members Standing Four to Five—The Former Decree Vacated, the Decree Reversed and the Cases Remanded with Instructions to Grant the Relief Prayed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The supreme court yesterday declared the entire income tax law unconstitutional.

Five of the nine justices were against the law to four for it. Those against the law were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray, Brewer and Shiras; for the law, Justices Harlan, White, Brown and Jackson.

The conclusions of the court were as follows:

1. We adhere to the opinion already announced that taxes on real estate, being indisputably direct taxes, taxes on rents or income of real estate are equally direct taxes.
2. We are of the opinion that taxes on property or on the income of personal property are likewise direct taxes.
3. That the tax imposed by sections 27 to 37 inclusive, of the act of 1894, so far as it falls on the income of the real estate and on personal property, being direct tax within the meaning of the constitution is, therefore, unconstitutional and void, because it is not apportioned according to representation, and all those sections constituting one entire scheme of taxation are necessarily invalid.

The decrees heretofore entered in this court will be vacated. The decrees below will be reversed and the cases remanded with instructions to grant the relief prayed.

Sections 27 to 37 of the tariff act of 1894, referred to in the conclusion of the court opinion are the sections of the act relating to the income tax so that the entire income tax law is declared void specifically.

There was the usual throng of people about the United States court room in anticipation of a final decision of the income tax cases, the chamber being crowded for quite a time before the court convened at noon. Those present included many attorneys and a full representation of the press, as well as a fair sprinkling of members of congress. The justices were at the capital early, and the consultation began at 10 o'clock, continuing until a few minutes before 12, all the members of the court being present, including Justice Jackson, who appeared at the court greatly to the surprise of everyone, save the justices. While there were other cases under the delivery of the conference, the income tax cases received the principal share of the attention of the members of the court.

The presence of Justice Jackson caused a great deal of speculation and was the basis for a great deal of gossip as to the